

You want the latest in PHE technology. But you need that bit more to underpin the bottom line. Relax.

Plough Engineering Services mean just that - Services. On site assessment. After sales support, that bit extra. We start with objective on site surveys, which means that we'll devise a planned and economic maintenance and management programme. We'll tailor a service contract that matches your exact requirements and reduce expensive downtime. There will be routine pressure testing and integrity tests, as well as leading edge pressure monitoring and holding time tests. There will be loan packs to reduce the inconvenience of refurbishment and trouble-shooting teams will be made available, as well as engineers for offshore work.
